

School Facilities – Environmental Health

- Environmental concerns relating to schools and school grounds have increased in recent years as schools have aged and regulations have imposed new requirements.
- Funding restrictions and increased costs make appropriate renovations to older schools difficult
- The state needs to provide the support to small school systems that are fiscally unable to add technical staff
- The state needs to help local school systems respond to emergencies and develop long range solutions to environmental and safety issues.